VISION OF TOMORROW, NOW.

Back to the Golden Age (Satya Yuga).

Let's make here and now the vision of the New Era, in which we completely reorient ourselves to the beautiful and positive, again clear and powerful.

From the Vedic Age, from which we have all come and experienced something else in between, we are now going back to this New time.

CONSCIOUS, HOLISTIC LIVING

People live consciously, clearly, lovingly, keeping consideration among themselves, also with the planet and the whole universe. Everything is in harmony. Everything always controlled by the inherent Power of Love of the Source Consciousness.

The Holistic way of life involves Body, Mind and Soul in everything we think, feel, do. Everyone takes maximum responsibility for themselves, so there is no blame or anything like that.

CONSTANT DEVELOPMENT

We are aware that we learn, and we learn throughout our lives, not only in a school, but in life with an open mind to everything and everyone.

We deal with knowledge in such a way that it is perceived as an important intermediate stage and builds on it to make furthermore profound knowledge possible. That is development.

Everything is always evolving. Nothing is set in stone (we cross the borders of cognitive dissonance).

ENERGETIC LASTING, WITH JOY

We don't need any more contracts among ourselves, because an agreement among people who serve the truth and love is more favorable than any contract.

We are concerned to always develop ourselves holistically. Therefore, we always do exactly what brings us the most joy. Because that is what our soul wants to experience at that moment. That is then actually our work, if you want to call it that, our contribution to living together. But there is no distinction between work and leisure. Because one always does what one wants to do and for as long as it gives the most pleasure.

And one therefore has no extraordinary need for recreation. We thus deal with our energy budget in exactly the right way. We are able to convert much more energy than before, because we draw from the power of the heart. In this way, everyone serves the community with his or her strengths.

And when someone realizes that the time has come for something new, the new is lived. And what has been freed up is filled or changed quite naturally by someone else.

Children

Children naturally participate in all of this and develop with joy and ease.

They are allowed to get a taste of everything, to experience everything that interests them.

They are left free to do so and are only advised in a very limited way or at their own request (instead of being presented with rigid structures).

Divine Order

We live in divine order, We who again deeply internalize and live, to this divine order, belongs just as the togetherness among humans. But also, the energies and cycles of the stars of the universe, the seasons of mother earth.

The constant change, embedded and carried in these energies, we live a previously unknown, but quite natural self-evidence, which opens us deeply trusting for more.

SUSTAINABLE, EARTH-CONNECTED

Everything we use; our homes, our clothes, our food and everything else we create is created in harmony with nature and serves life. This sense of oneness and unity consciousness runs through our whole life. It gives us deep roots to mother earth and lets us grow far into the sky in the common and individual source consciousness.

Heart-based life is self-evident. All life-hostile ways of living or even technologies belong to the past. We are full of compassion and respect for all living things that we are preserving and loving with them. We use new technologies, free energies that bring us much joy and relief. Mother Nature has recovered and purified. The harmful information has been transformed.

CREATORS WHO INSPIRE

Let's dream our lives, because we experience them exactly as we dreamed them. We are all creators. We refine our dreams more often during the day, in the morning, at noon, in the evening. We share our dreams with others.

We do not impose ourselves but inspire with love.

ACCEPT AND TRANSFORM THE OLD

And if we don't like something on the outside or in our dream, we just overwrite it with our new dream. Everything we read and hear, still from the old times, from the news, what others tell us, if we don't like it, we rewrite it directly. We reshoot the movie.

We proceed with a kind of positive callousness; we simply don't take the negative so seriously anymore, accept it as something that is there now and immediately overwrite it with our new film. We re-dream it. We are so infinitely powerful.

All the encodings of the new time are already in us, we awaken them in ourselves and also in others.

All is One and yet Individual

The world needs us now. It's nice that you exist; it's great that we all exist. We are all one and yet individual.

Everyone can live his/her life in freedom, love and adventure.

And what is your vision of life?
